County Commissioners

Welcome to Benton County! Our community spans 679 square miles, from the Willamette River west to the Coastal Foothills and is home to nearly 100,000 residents. Beyond our incorporated cities of Corvallis, Philomath, Monroe and Adair Village, we serve several active unincorporated communities throughout the County and OSU students while school is in session.

Whether you've just moved to the area or you're starting in a new role here, Benton County is now a part of your daily life. And we couldn't be more excited to have you!

The Benton County government serves as your point of contact for many important elements of both residence and employment in the area. That includes everything from property taxes to dog licensing, passport support to food establishment licensing. Your county government also serves as a local steward to a variety of community resources like County parks and recreational areas, waterways, historic buildings like the Benton County Courthouse and law enforcement through the Benton County Sheriff's Office.

Three elected Commissioners oversee all Benton County operations. In addition to acting as executives and legislators, each commissioner serves on a number of different committees and advisory boards to serve and represent our community.

The County wants to work with and support local businesses as much as possible. Keep an eye out for calls for bids, proposals and quotes through the County's DemandStar profile. We also rely on volunteers to serve on one of the County's 20 advisory boards, commissions or committees. Your skills, experience and perspectives can make a lasting impact on your community while you meet and network with other with similar interests.

Executive Director

The Benton County Historical Society was established in 1951 to preserve and share the history of Benton County. In 1980 we opened the Philomath Museum in the Philomath College Building which had been saved and restored for our use. Built in 1867, the Philomath College Building is on the National Register of Historic Places.

The Philomath Museum has two exhibition galleries where we feature artifacts from our extensive collection and local/regional art. We also have a research library (open by appointment) and a small museum store.

In 1995 Oregon State University announced the closure of their Horner Museum. BCHS stepped forward to save the collection, which had been built by professors at the university for the benefit of our community. After ten years of negotiations we acquired the collection and moved it into our newly-built Johnson Collections Center behind the Philomath Museum.

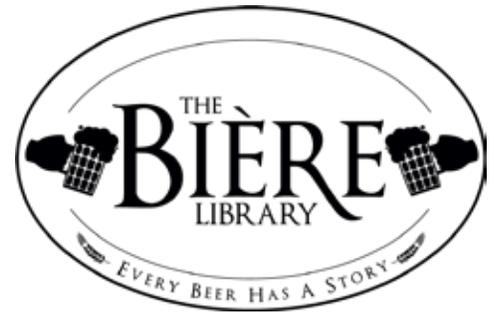

After our storage needs were sorted out, we turned our attention to our display needs. Acquiring the Horner Museum collection doubled the number of artifacts in our care. We needed more space to share them with the public.

Designed by Allied Works Architecture (Portland and New York City) and LEED certified, the Corvallis Museum was scheduled to open in April 2020. We finally opened our doors in February 2021, in the midst of COVID restrictions. In July 2021 the restrictions were lifted, and we began to operate in earnest.

The Corvallis Museum has four major exhibition spaces, with small displays tucked in between. One exhibition space is for temporary exhibitions of art or history. Three others are permanent exhibit spaces, exploring the history of Benton County and of Oregon State University. We also have two rental spaces and a museum store offering locally made items and a great selection of books.

The Philomath Museum is open 10-4:30 Wednesday through Saturday.
The Corvallis Museum is open 10-4:30 Wednesday through Saturday and 12-4:30 on Sundays.

The Bière Library Story

The Bière Library is a craft beer bar and restaurant serving Corvallis, Oregon. Inspired by the beer and cuisine of Belgium, The Bière Library explores the relationship between beer and food in an environment reminiscent of a comfortable library.

A well-curated selection of local craft and imported beer rotate frequently on draft and in bottles, with an emphasis on quality and diversity of styles. The food menu features Belgian comfort food, described by Chef Travis as a cross between traditional German food portions and the refinement of French cooking techniques.

Erica Baze has many years of experience in craft beer establishments, including Mikkeller Bar SF in San Francisco, Holy Mountain Brewing in Seattle, and Nectar Creek in Philomath. Erica's passion for and knowledge of craft beer has led her to sharing her enthusiasm and insight with guests, family, and friends, earning her the nickname, "Beerica." Erica also hosts a book club, community collaboration events, and weekly flight nights at The Bière Library.

Chef Travis Allen is a graduate of Seattle Culinary Academy and has spent years recipe testing and experimenting with Belgian recipes and Cuisine à la Bière (cooking with beer). Chef Travis' passion for good beer and great food began on a trip to Belgium and he continues to find inspiration from Old World and family recipes. His time spent cooking at Ray's Boathouse in Seattle and The Dizzy Hen in Philomath further honed his skills. Travis served in the military from 2007-2013 before completing a B.A. in Philosophy at Western Oregon University. He hosts a weekly coffee & waffle meetup for veterans and hopes The Bière Library will be a warm and welcoming environment for people from all walks of life.

Welcome to Corvallis! We're glad you're finally home. Now come on down to your new riverside living room: The Brass Monkey!

The Brass Monkey is a cozy, alluring, welcoming gastropub in the heart of Downtown. Scratch-made pub fare and thoughtful cocktails are the name of our game. ## BURST'S CHOCOLATES GOURMET SWEETS

353 SW Madison Ave.
Corvallis, OR 97333

BurstsChocolates.com

A Piece of Corvallis Tradition....

Burst's Chocolates has been a favorite local tradition since it opened in 1938. During tough and lean times in Corvallis, Rhea Burst, a long-time resident of Corvallis, said to her husband, Charlie, "What we could use in this town is a handmade chocolate shop." So just three months later, the Bursts decided to try what many only dream of: to make a living making chocolate! They opened their doors on the first floor of a brand new building at 353 SW Madison Avenue in Corvallis, Oregon, where the business still resides today.

Charlie worked in a small kitchen in the back of the store, creating handmade candies and tempering his chocolate on a marble slab. Rhea worked the front of the store, selling chocolates and candies to families looking for high quality, special treats they could afford in these difficult times. From the beginning, Charlie and Rhea believed "any kid with a penny in their pocket should be able to come in and get a piece of candy." The Burst's tradition of quality and value had begun. Not having children to pass the business on to, Charlie and Rhea sold their dream and legacy to Ralph Batmen in 1957. From his first day in the shop, Ralph continued the Burst's tradition of producing the highest quality chocolates and, as he did, the business thrived. Through the 1960s, the Burst's reputation for excellence grew throughout the Willamette Valley. Then, fifteen years after taking over from the Bursts, Ralph Batmen decided to retire as well, and sold the business to Don and Rosemary Burck in 1972.

Then came the early 1980s and recession. The Oregon economy took a turn for the worse. Through hard work and devotion to the legacy of Burst's Candies, Don made sure that Burst's weathered the downturn.

Harkening back to Charlie and Rhea's original commitment, Don kept his quality high and his prices affordable so second and third-generation customers could continue to enjoy a special "treat" in these very difficult times. Enter yours truly, Patrick Magee. As Burst's success ebbed and flowed in the 1970s and 80s, I was growing up just down the road from Corvallis. I was the first child in a family with a legacy of chefs and a love of good food. So it was no wonder I grew early on to love the fine chocolates and candies of Burst's.

After graduating from Oregon State University, I lived abroad for three years and learned the art of cooking. In 1996 I moved back home with the intent of returning to Europe after a year to continue my career. While in Corvallis and needing work, I remembered how much I enjoyed my experiences and the chocolates at Burst's as I was growing up. After introducing myself to Don Burck, I was hired on the spot for a dream job, working as a confectioner in the kitchen of Burst's Candies! As the end of my "year" in Corvallis grew closer, my desire for a life in Europe seemed farther and farther away.

Sensing this change, and knowing I would be up to the challenge of carrying on the traditions that Ralph Batmen and Charlie and Rhea Burst had worked so hard to build and sustain, Don Burck offered to sell me the business, to let me own and become part of the legacy of Burst's Candies.

It has been a wonderful, challenging, and rewarding 20 years! It is my pleasure to share with you not only this 80-year history of chocolate making at Burst's, but also my commitment to manufacturing premium, luxury chocolates. For over four generations, Burst's Chocolates has sweetened countless lives in Oregon's lush Willamette Valley. Handcrafted in small batches with exacting care, our confections combine locally grown and produced specialties with quality ingredients collected from around the world. The result: the best bite you'll ever savor!

We strive to provide the most complete patient centered Physical Therapy care in the Willamette Valley. We have a passion for helping people of all ages work, live, play.. again!!!

Corvallis, Albany and Philomath have an abundance of activities: mountain biking, hiking and running trails along with sports activities that keep the community healthy and active. When injury or pain get in the way of participating in your favorite activity or even playing with your kids or pets, you can rely on our professional expert physical therapists. We will take a whole-body approach to your injury and not just cure it but also give you techniques to not reinjure the area.

In Oregon most insurance companies, with the exception of Medicare, will cover your physical therapy visits and Oregon is a direct access state which means that you can refer yourself to physical therapy. At all 3 of our locations, we offer expert care from sport and spine injuries to women's and men's pelvic floor health. We are excited to announce that in our Albany care location we have built up our Lymphedema program. This is helpful for those who have had Orthopedic surgery or surgery due to cancer. It can be helpful with swelling, fluid retention and to improve range of motion

Our mission is to provide amazing customer service and personalized care to every patient in a fun welcoming environment.

Practice Administrator

Welcome to Corvallis! At Corvallis Family Medicine, our philosophy is excellence in patient care, management and prevention of chronic and acute disease, with patient education to support the pillars of health to promote a healthy lifestyle. Starting a new job and moving to a new city and/or area of the country can be a daunting task for anyone! Where are you going to live, what are the school options for your child(ren), how do we get around and where is the grocery store, pharmacy, shopping are just a few of the questions in the forefront of your mind! Many of us don't think about our medical, dental or vision needs until an emergency arises, and we do not know who to call. Unfortunately, Corvallis is like many other communities across the country struggling with medical provider shortages; long waits to see a provider (if anyone is accepting new patients), and the uncertainty that it brings. If you are looking for a practice for your whole family, Corvallis Family Medicine (CFM) may be a good fit for you.

At Corvallis Family Medicine, your family's health begins here. We are a small physician-owned and operated practice that has been serving Corvallis and the surrounding communities since 1989. We are composed of 5 board certified family medicine physicians, 1 board certified internal medicine physician, 2 certified physician associates, and 1 certified nurse practitioner in our medical team. Many of our providers have been here for over 10 years. CFM treats patients from 1 day to 105 years old! We provide full spectrum care; preventive care, women's health, same day appointments for more acute issues as well as a "CFM patient only urgent care" for those sprains, strains, non-displaced fractures, sore throats, fevers, rashes, cough/colds, and simple lacerations. Our clinic is equipped with an in-house lab, a digital x ray suite, spirometry, EKG, limited ultrasound, audiology testing, as well as retinal eye examination equipment to identify diabetic retinopathy. We are open 6 days a week (including Saturday morning for those Friday night injuries). Our providers do dermatology, minor surgical procedures, migraine consultations, weight loss programs, and periodic group sessions on specific topics.

CFM knows that a patient's mental well-being is just as important as their physical well-being, but access to these services is difficult to obtain. To this end, CFM expanded to include Behavioral Health both in the clinic and virtual. This team consists of a psychiatrist, a licensed clinical social worker, and a licensed professional counselor. This teams works in coordination with the medical team to treat the "whole person"

We look forward to being part of your family's health journey.

First Alternative Natural Foods Co-op began as a buying club in 1970—a way for OSU Students and Corvallis residents to buy natural and organic foods at a time when their distribution channels were few and far between. Eventually, the buying club became successful enough to open a storefront on SE 3rd Street, and in 2003, the Co-op expanded to a second store on NW 29th Street.

Since its beginning, First Alternative has cultivated reciprocal, long-term relationships with local growers and producers. Today, thanks to this commitment to supporting local food, First Alternative is able to offer the largest selection of locally grown and made products in the region.

On any given day at the Co-op, you will find the stores stocked with a discerningly selected product mix that includes:

- Approximately 150 organic fresh produce items—plus a large selection of natural and organic packaged grocery and dairy products.
- Over 750 items in the bulk departments.
- Delectable deli and bakery items prepared by the Co-op Kitchen.
- Delicious grass-fed beef, naturally raised lamb, pork, goat, and poultry.
- Over 300 varieties of cheese.
- A large selection of supplements, vitamins, and natural body care products.
- Handcrafted mercantile and gift items

First Alternative as an organization is also deeply connected to our local community, participating in community events and fundraisers, providing donations to support non-profit organizations, and engaging on a regular basis with community groups.

The entire First Alternative crew want to remind you that you don't have to be an Owner to shop—the Co-op is open to everyone! Stop by for a cup of coffee and fresh baked muffin on the way to work or a bowl of homemade soup and locally grown organic salad greens for lunch. They'll be very glad to see you!

We are book people, and we believe in getting the right book into the right person's hands, at the right time. Stop by any day of the week, rain or shine, for personalized recommendations from our excellent booksellers.

Founded in 2019, the agency has two dozen marketing professionals with various skill sets related to website development and SEO, graphic design, branding, photography, videography, digital advertising, copywriting, and more.

Allison Lamplugh, owner and creative director, built the agency to fill a void she saw in the Corvallis area. She noticed the need for one place businesses could go to achieve their marketing and promotional goals. Working in marketing over the years, she heard the same pain points from business leaders:

They didn't know where to go to start a project
They didn't know who was good
They didn't understand industry jargon
They didn't want to go multiple places and talk to multiple people
They didn't have time to take on a project on top of their full-time job

Lamplight Creatives was designed to solve all of those problems! Allison works closely with the agency's clients to learn about their vision and goals. Then, she recruits the Creative needed to complete all parts of the project, working with the Creatives on behalf of the client. This allows the client to focus on what they do best: running their business.

Marketing Consultation services are also available through the agency. Allison can be hired by the hour and on retainer to consult about marketing tactics and strategies, develop marketing plans, and execute them as needed.

Allison values keeping Lamplight Creatives affordable to small and medium-sized businesses in our local area. She makes a conscious effort to offer fair pricing so that the organizations that need marketing services the most have access to top-notch professionals.

Lee Powell
Owner, Landscape Architect

Lee is a Registered Landscape Architect based in Corvallis, OR. He has spent over three decades creating designs for outdoor spaces. Lee attended Oregon State University in Horticulture before transferring to Louisiana State University where he earned his Bachelor degree in Landscape Architecture.

Lee was hired at the esteemed design firm Bechtel Engineering in San Francisco. He received worldly experience being the Landscape Architect for the extended Bay Area Rapid transit system (BART) and the station site selection for Athens Metro in Greece. He returned to Corvallis, Oregon where he became the 4th generation co-owner of his family's Garden Center (Garland Nursery). While managing the everyday business responsibilities, Lee continued to design landscapes and built out his expertise in native and non-native plants and their essential role in supporting local ecosystems.

After selling the family business in 2024, Lee is solely focusing on Landscape Architecture for both residential and commercial sites. His passion is listening to the homeowner or business owners' requests and creating a plan that his client will be excited about and proud of. He can do everything from a one-hour consultation sketch to a computer drafted master plan and everything in between. He has the ability to create unique landscapes based on each individuals' requests, he does not lock in one "cookie cutter" design. From his years of experience, Lee understands city development code and land use and has helped clients navigate the codes for landscaping.

In his spare time, Lee enjoys creating new spaces for his family to enjoy – official sized bocce court, garden oasis, outdoor dining area and a sunken, oversized firepit is on the drawing board. Lee can help create your family's dream outdoor space. If you have purchased a home, he can help you identify plants in your yard. If you are building, Lee can help design hardscapes, walls, irrigation placement and tree placement as well as the entire scope of the landscape project.

Lee welcomes you to Corvallis, and would consider it an honor to help create your dream landscape.

Erica and Antonea
Sisters / Owners

We are two sisters. We are Corvallis locals. We love our town and wanted to find a way to contribute to this little community that we adore.

It all started several years ago. Two sisters, chatting on their back patio, dreaming of opening some sort of store whose core mission reflected the conscientious spirit of our beloved community. Months of planning, dreaming, stretching, and growing and the shop was becoming tangible. When we were thinking about a name for our store, we really wanted something that captured the benefits of consigning unwanted clothing and promoting second-hand consumerism. Working off of the principle of the three R's, the name re•volve was born.

So what is in a name? Well, we're hoping that our name will become synonymous with the three R's around here. A lofty goal, yes. But the business' mission was formed around the idea. It's not new, but it is at the heart of how we conduct ourselves personally and professionally. And we think that the word "re•volve" fits in nicely with reduce, reuse, and recycle. It kind of caps the phrase off, bringing it all together.

We love being a part of the downtown Corvallis culture and engaging with our fellow Corvallians, visitors, and the OSU community. We hope to become a vital part of Corvallis' spirit through charitable endeavors and by embodying its commitments to social responsibility and environmental sustainability. It is our hope that you feel the goodness when you come in our store!

Over the years Woodstock's has stuck to their ideals of creating a quality, custom-built pizza. We use the best quality meats and vegetables, and make our own dough and sauce fresh every day and bake each pizza with individual attention in our deck ovens (no convey belts here)

ORDERING

All our pizzas start with your choice of sauce and 100% mozzarella cheese (or dairy-free, vegan cheese if you prefer) on our whole wheat or white dough (also vegan) or one of our gluten-free crust options. From there you create your own pizza with any combination of our over 35 toppings.

When ordering on the phone (or at the counter) it's helpful to know the essentials... like what size of pizza you'd like, type of crust, sauce (if not original red, it's the default), topping choices and your name. For delivery, it's also helpful to know where you are located.

For shorter wait times you can order ahead for a specific time for dine-in, pick-up or simply call before you head our way. We suggest that if you are ordering for a group that you order 1 day or more in advance if you can.

Cheers, Carol Lee Woodstock

Oregon

*"She Flies With Her Own Wings"**

*The territorial motto "Alis Volat Propriis."

STATE TREE

Douglas Fir (Pseudotsuga menziesii) designated Oregon's state tree in 1939, is the principal timber species in the United States. A tree of large size and magnificent form, its wood is the most important in the world, due to its strength and stiffness combined with its moderate weight. Greatest value is for structural timber, although it has a thousand uses.

Oregon has more Douglas fir and produces more of its lumber than any other state.

STATE FISH

The Chinook Salmon (Oncorhynchus tshawytscha) "a distinctive economic and recreational asset," was declared State Fish by the 1961 Legislature.

STATE BIRD

The Western Meadowlark (Sturnella neglecta) was chosen in 1927 by Oregon's school children in a vote sponsored by the Oregon Audubon Society. Perhaps the most popular and familiar of western birds, it has bright colors, fearless behavior and a loud and cheerful song.

STATE ROCK

The 1965 Legislature declared the Thunderegg the official state rock after rockhounds throughout Oregon voted the Thunderegg their unanimous choice. While drab and uninteresting on the outside, when cut and polished, they reveal beautiful designs in a wide variety of colors. They are found chiefly in Malheur, Wasco, Jefferson, Wheeler and Crook Counties.

STATE ANIMAL

The American Beaver (Castor canadensis) was named Oregon State Animal by the 1969 Legislature. Prized for its fur, the beaver was heavily trapped during the 19th century. Through proper management and partial protection, the beaver has come back and is now common in the waterways throughout the state. Oregon is sometimes referred to as the "Beaver State", and Oregon State University's athletic team is called the "Beavers".

STATE FLOWER

The Oregon Grape (Berberis aquifolium) grows primarily in the western area of the state. Resembling holly, with its small yellow flowers and bright berries against a deep green waxy leaf, the plant remains green year 'round.
